

The MarketsChicago Grain.

By black rust and by heat in the Dakotas and Minnesota brought about a fresh advance today in the wheat market here. Unfavorable crop advice from Russia and Argentina counted against the bears also. In addition, county acceptances on overnight bids from Chicago were reported as only fair. The opening, which was 1-4c to 1 higher was followed by supplementary mains, but with selling and considerably enlarged on the bulge. The close was pervious, 2-8c to 1-1-8c no higher.

Corn prices ran up quickly on account of continued hot dry weather. The bulls were further encouraged by Argentine dispatches telling of difficulty in getting corn of sufficiently good grades to fill contracts. After opening the same as last night to 1-2-8c 1-1-8c up, the market hardened a little more and the remainder went to a moderate reaction. The close was unsettled, 1-2-8c to 2-8c above last night.

Oats sympathized with corn. Late offerings became the rule, however, on the upturn.

Lack of demand weakened provisions. A setback in the hog market seemed to make buyers hold off.

The market closed as follows:

Wheat—July, 82-3-8c; September, 81-1c.

Corn—July, 72-5-8c; September, 69-5-8c.

OCCUPATION TAX IS COMMERCIAL CLUB COLLECTIBLE BY THE CITY COMMITTEE GETS THE MONEY

Attorney General Finds Municipality has Been Right in Operating Under Law Cited by Clerk Hughes.

SETTLES QUESTION MERCHANTS RAISED

The occupation tax is legal and the city has a right to collect it. That is the gist of an opinion received today by City Clerk Thomas Hughes from Attorney General Clancy, which reverses an important particular the opinion seen by the attorney general the other day. When the attorney general wrote the early part of the week that the city had no right to collect the tax, but that it was collectible by the county, he was giving an opinion based on a statute earlier than the one under which the city government had been collecting.

City Clerk Hughes wrote to the attorney general again and received the following reply today:

Santa Fe, N. M., July 22.
Thomas Hughes, City Clerk,
Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Sir:

I have received your letter of yesterday calling my attention to Chapter 131 of the Session Laws of 1909, for which I am obliged to you, as that chapter had entirely escaped my memory when I wrote to you recently with regard to occupation taxes, and I wrote you in such haste that I called attention only to the earlier statutes, with which I have been familiar for years.

I think there can be no doubt that, under that statute of 1909, the city treasurers are authorized to collect all occupation taxes such as those for which provision is made by Section 4141 of the Compiled Laws of 1897 and the amendments thereto. I will send you copies of the two published volumes of opinions of this office and you will see, by reference to pages 79 and 81 of the earlier volume, that nearly five years ago I had occasion to consider this statute.

As to the legality of the tax, I do not see how there can be any reasonable doubt. It certainly was quite within the power of the legislature to provide for such taxes and there is nothing in the state constitution which takes away or impairs that power of the legislature. On the contrary Section 2 of Article VIII distinctly declares that the legislature may provide for the levy and collection of license taxes, and by the next section that the enumeration of subjects of taxation in the preceding section shall not deprive the legislature of the power to require other subjects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the constitution.

Yours very truly,

FRANK W. CLANCY,
Attorney General.

Retail merchants all over the state have been questioning the legality of the income tax, as collected by municipalities especially, and in this city the same doubt as hung over the operation of the law in other places was in evidence. City Clerk Hughes laid the matter before the attorney general in order to settle the question, not only for the Albuquerque authorities, but for the State Retail Merchants' association, which at the staton convention called for a ruling on the matter.

In this city most of the merchants have paid their occupation tax, but there have been about a dozen who questioned the right to collect it and have held up payment, and in view of the question raised the city government has not been pressing them. In view of the attorney general's ruling it is expected that all question of the city's right to collect will be settled in everyone's mind.

It will be noted that the attorney general refers to collection of the tax by the city treasurer. In this city the occupation tax, as is the case with all other taxes, is collected by the city clerk for the city treasurer. The clerk deposits the money taken in to the city treasurer's credit. In other words, the city clerk acts in effect, as the city treasurer's deputy or collector.

EXTENSION UNDER SIDEWALK ORDINANCE EXPIRED JULY 17

The extension of time granted by the city under the general ordinance calling for new sidewalks and repairs expired July 17. At the next meeting of the council City Engineer James N. Gladding will file a report giving the names of the delinquents.

The delinquents, Mr. Gladding said today, were not many. A great many property owners have put in or repaired sidewalks, and the improvement is noticeable all over town.

HORSETHIEVES SEEN NORTH OF CARTHAGE

Search for the horse thieves who got away with two ponies belonging to the Trimble stable here is still being kept up by the county and city authorities. Chief of Police McMillin received word today that the pair were seen 25 miles north of Carthage, New Mexico, on Tuesday on the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway. They were going south.
